Finally, it's important to correct any errors on your credit report. (point #3) Order your credit reports often and keep track of anything that looks like a mistake. (detail #1) If you find any errors, be sure to report them immediately to the credit reporting agencies so that they can correct these mistakes. (detail #2)

As you can see, improving your credit score can take some time, but it is well worth it. (transition to conclusion) You'll want to be sure to pay your bills on time, keep your accounts open as long as possible, and correct all errors on your credit report. (summarize 3 main points) Use these 3 simple steps to improve your credit score and get the credit rating that you deserve. (Tell the reader what they can now do with the information in the article.)
